

Presentation on one of the most inspiring people
in the history of entrepreneurship

COLONEL HARLAND SANDERS

The founder of Kentucky Fried Chicken

Where was he born :

- Harland David Sanders, better known as Colonel Sanders (1890-1980), was an American entrepreneur and founder of KFC.
- Born on a farm in Indiana, he leave with his parents and his brothers and sister. But, when Colonel Sanders was only 6 years old, his father passed away.... Because of that, his mother had to work very hard to provide everythings for the family , and he was left home to take care of his siblings. So at the age 6 he started cooking and taking care of the family. And by the age of 7 he was a already a skilled cook.
- In 1930, he opened a gas station in Kentucky where he cooked for his customers. His success led him to open the Sanders Café, where he developed his famous secret recipe for fried chicken with eleven herbs and spices.

How did I discovered him ?

- One day, I was in a KFC, after ordering, when i looked at the fries box. I noticed there was a face drawn on it. I decided to do some research on this person and that's when I discovered that he was the founder of KFC: COLONEL HARLAND SANDER. I wanted to know what drove him to create KFC. That's how I became interested in his story, and I saw the whole journey he went through before creating KFC. He inspires me because through his story we can learn that it's never too late for anything and you should never give up even after several failures.

What are his achievement :

- ❖ Colonel Sanders spent the first half of his life working many odd jobs: he did every job you can think of. He was known for not being able to keep a job for a longer period.
- ❖ Until the age of 40; that Colonel Sanders began selling his chicken dishes inside a gas station. And everything was fine until, his restaurant went broke! At the age of 65 And for the first time in his life, he had to sign for social security.
- ❖ But he didn't give up his dream. He used his first social security check of only $105 and traveled across the United States in search of potential business partners offering them his secret recipe. It was one of the hardest periods of his life. He was living in his car surviving with little food, facing rejection after rejection, but giving up was never an option. It's only after the 1008 rejection, that his chicken recipe was accepted!..... Now KFC is one of the biggest company in this world, even after he die.
- ❖ That's what we call an achievement!!!

Now we are going to tell you about what he became after that :

By the 1960s, his empire had 400 restaurants and generated millions. He sold KFC in 1964 for $2 million but remained its ambassador.

A philanthropist, he adopted 78 orphans and supported numerous charities. He died of leukemia in 1980 at the age of 90. Its image remains emblematic, and its recipe remains a well-kept secret.

he taught us that :

- We have to go through failure to get success
- The past doesn't define your success
- We are never too old to succeed
- It's never too late to start over
- Don't be afraid

JUST GO FOR IT 😊

To summarize :

- Colonel Sanders is dead. But behind him he leaves a big fast food compagny. Beside a life full of trials which he overcame; his words continue to endure. And more importantly his delicious fried chicken still delights us today. He might be dead but he's still inspiring many people in this world and he left behind him one of the greatest legacy in the fast food industry. He's an a living legend. He's an icon and he's an example to follow.